

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
FOR THE WESTERN DISTRICT OF MICHIGAN
NORTHERN DIVISION

MARCUS TAYLOR,

Plaintiff,

Case No. 2:12-cv-229

v.

HON. R. ALLAN EDGAR

DAVID TENNYSON, et al.,

Defendants.

REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

This is a civil rights action brought by state prisoner Marcus Taylor pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983. Plaintiff's remaining claims are against defendants Tennyson and Cobb. This court has previously set forth each of the claims in an opinion filed on September 13, 2012. In claim 2 and in claim 10, plaintiff asserted a retaliation claim involving an incident with his television set and a misconduct ticket that he received from defendant Tennyson. In claim 7, plaintiff asserted that defendant Cobb wrote a false misconduct ticket against him for disobeying a direct order in retaliation for plaintiff's grievance filing. Defendants move to dismiss the claims arguing that plaintiff failed to properly exhaust his administrative grievance remedies on each of these claims.

Summary judgment is appropriate when the record reveals that there are no genuine issues as to any material fact in dispute and the moving party is entitled to judgment as a matter of law. FED. R. CIV. P. 56(c); Kocak v. Comty. Health Partners of Ohio, Inc., 400 F.3d 466, 468 (6th Cir. 2005); Thomas v. City of Chattanooga, 398 F.3d 426, 429 (6th Cir. 2005). The standard for determining whether summary judgment is appropriate is "whether the evidence presents a sufficient disagreement to require submission to a jury or whether it is so one-sided that one party must prevail as a matter of law.” State Farm Fire & Cas. Co. v. McGowan, 421 F.3d 433, 436 (6th Cir. 2005) (quoting Anderson v. Liberty Lobby, Inc., 477 U.S. 242, 251-52 (1986)); see also Tucker v. Union of Needletrades Indus. & Textile Employees, 407 F.3d 784, 787 (6th Cir. 2005). The court must consider all pleadings, depositions, affidavits, and admissions on file, and draw all justifiable inferences in favor of the party opposing the motion. See Matsushita Elec. Indus. Co., Ltd. v. Zenith Radio Corp., 475 U.S. 574, 587 (1986); Twin City Fire Ins. Co. v. Adkins, 400 F.3d 293, 296 (6th Cir. 2005).

A prisoner’s failure to exhaust his administrative remedies is an affirmative defense, which Defendants have the burden to plead and prove. Jones v. Bock, 127 S. Ct. 910, 919-21 (2007). A moving party without the burden of proof need show only that the opponent cannot sustain his burden at trial. See Morris v. Oldham County Fiscal Court, 201 F.3d 784, 787 (6th Cir. 2000); see also Minadeo v. ICI Paints, 398 F.3d 751, 761 (6th Cir. 2005). A moving party with the burden of proof faces a “substantially higher hurdle.” Arnett v. Myers, 281 F.3d 552, 561 (6th Cir. 2002); Cockrel v. Shelby County Sch. Dist., 270 F.3d 1036, 1056 (6th Cir. 2001). “Where the moving party has the burden -- the plaintiff on a claim for relief or the defendant on an affirmative defense -- his showing must be sufficient for the court to hold that no reasonable trier of fact could find other than for the moving party.” Calderone v. United States, 799 F.2d 254, 259 (6th Cir. 1986) (quoting W. SCHWARZER, Summary Judgment Under the Federal Rules: Defining Genuine Issues of Material Fact, 99 F.R.D. 465, 487-88 (1984)). The United States Court of Appeals for the Sixth Circuit repeatedly has emphasized that the party with the burden of proof “must show the record contains evidence satisfying the burden of persuasion and that the evidence is so powerful that no reasonable jury would be free to disbelieve it.” Arnett, 281 F.3d at 561 (quoting 11 JAMES WILLIAM MOORE, ET AL., MOORE’S FEDERAL PRACTICE § 56.13[1], at 56-138 (3d ed. 2000); Cockrel, 270 F.2d at 1056

(same). Accordingly, summary judgment in favor of the party with the burden of persuasion “is inappropriate when the evidence is susceptible of different interpretations or inferences by the trier of fact.” Hunt v. Cromartie, 526 U.S. 541, 553 (1999).

Pursuant to the applicable portion of the Prison Litigation Reform Act (PLRA), 42 U.S.C. § 1997e(a), a prisoner bringing an action with respect to prison conditions under 42 U.S.C. § 1983 must exhaust his available administrative remedies. See Porter v. Nussle, 534 U.S. 516, 532 (2002); Booth v. Churner, 532 U.S. 731, 733 (2001). A prisoner must first exhaust available administrative remedies, even if the prisoner may not be able to obtain the specific type of relief he seeks in the state administrative process. See Porter, 534 U.S. at 520; Booth, 532 U.S. at 741; Knuckles El v. Toombs, 215 F.3d 640, 642 (6th Cir. 2000); Freeman v. Francis, 196 F.3d 641, 643 (6th Cir. 1999). In order to properly exhaust administrative remedies, prisoners must complete the administrative review process in accordance with the deadlines and other applicable procedural rules. Jones v. Bock, 127 S. Ct. 910, 922-23 (2007); Woodford v. Ngo, 126 S. Ct. 2378, 2386 (2006). “Compliance with prison grievance procedures, therefore, is all that is required by the PLRA to ‘properly exhaust.’” Jones, 127 S. Ct. at 922-23.

MDOC Policy Directive 03.02.130 (effective July 9, 2007), sets forth the applicable grievance procedures for prisoners in MDOC custody at the time relevant to this complaint. Inmates must first attempt to resolve a problem orally within two business days of becoming aware of the grievable issue, unless prevented by circumstances beyond his or her control Id. at ¶ P. If oral resolution is unsuccessful, the inmate may proceed to Step I of the grievance process and submit a completed grievance form within five business days of the attempted oral resolution. Id. at ¶ P. The Policy Directive also provides the following directions for completing grievance forms: “The issues shall be stated briefly. Information provided shall be limited to the facts involving the issue being grieved (i.e., who, what, when, where, why, how). Dates, times, places and names of all those involved in the issue being grieved are to be included.” Id. at ¶ R (emphasis in original). The inmate submits the grievance to a designated grievance coordinator, who assigns it to a respondent. Id. at ¶ X.

If the inmate is dissatisfied with the Step I response, or does not receive a timely response, he may appeal to Step II by obtaining an appeal form within ten business days of the response, or if no response was received, within ten days after the response was due. Id. at ¶¶ T, DD. The respondent at Step II is designated by the policy, e.g., the regional health administrator for a medical care grievances. Id. at ¶ GG. If the inmate is still dissatisfied with the Step II response, or does not receive a timely Step II response, he may appeal to Step III. Id. at ¶ FF. The Step III form shall be sent within ten business days after receiving the Step II response, or if no Step II response was received, within ten business days after the date the Step II response was due. Id. at ¶ FF. The Grievance and Appeals Section is the respondent for Step III grievances on behalf of the MDOC director. Id. at ¶ GG. Time limitations shall be adhered to by the inmate and staff at all steps of the grievance process. Id. at ¶ X. “The total grievance process from the point of filing a Step I grievance to providing a Step III response shall be completed within 90 calendar days unless an extension has been approved” Id. at ¶ HH.

Plaintiff filed a grievance against defendant Tennyson on the August 1, 2011, incident. Plaintiff asserted in his Step I grievance that he threatened defendant Tennyson with a grievance filing if plaintiff was not given his law books. Defendant Tennyson then came to plaintiff’s cell door with restraints to take plaintiff to the shower, according to plaintiff, to give plaintiff something to grieve about. Plaintiff refused stating that he wanted a sergeant present. Plaintiff grieved this issue asserting that this was a serious threat that he considered life threatening.

Plaintiff never presented any issue about receiving a false misconduct ticket in retaliation for filing a grievance. The Step I response does discuss the television issue indicating that plaintiff refused to allow staff to remove his television set that he was no longer allowed to have once he was placed at level 1. See grievance LMF 11-08-1582-17a, attached as an exhibit to plaintiff's responsive brief (Docket #22).

In the opinion of the undersigned, this grievance does not exhaust plaintiff's retaliation claim against defendant Tennyson. The grievance has nothing to do with the filing of a false misconduct ticket against plaintiff and simply addresses plaintiff's subjective belief that defendant Tennyson was going to do something to plaintiff while plaintiff took a shower. That belief was based solely on speculation. Plaintiff's claim of retaliation is illusory at best. First, it is based upon his threat to file a grievance because he did not receive requested law books and, finally, as grieved by plaintiff, it was based upon speculation that some adverse action would be taken against him if he allowed defendant Tennyson to take him to the shower. Moreover, it appears that plaintiff was actually taken to the showers by defendant Tennyson without incident. That grievance simply does not support the claim that plaintiff asserted in this case that he received a false misconduct ticket in retaliation for filing a grievance against defendant Tennyson for the deprivation of his television set.

Similarly, plaintiff's claim against defendant Cobb was not properly grieved. Plaintiff submitted a grievance on the false misconduct claim against defendant Cobb after he submitted a grievance over the deprivation of a shower, but that grievance was rejected as untimely. See grievance LMF 11-11-2580-28e, attached as Exhibit G to defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment (Docket #14). Plaintiff's failure to properly follow grievance procedures and submit a timely grievance on this issue is considered a failure to grieve the issue.

For the foregoing reasons, I recommend that defendants' motions for summary judgment (Docket #14 and #24) be granted, dismissing plaintiff's complaint without prejudice. It is further recommended that the court deny plaintiff's motions for discovery (Docket #36), to stay summary judgment (Docket #29), and for a modification of payment of filing fees (Docket #44).

Should the court adopt the report and recommendation in this case, the court must next decide whether an appeal of this action would be in good faith within the meaning of 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a)(3). See McGore v. Wrigglesworth, 114 F.3d 601, 611 (6th Cir. 1997). For the same reasons that the undersigned recommends granting Defendants' motion for summary judgment, the undersigned discerns no good-faith basis for an appeal. Should the court adopt the report and recommendation and should Plaintiff appeal this decision, the court will assess the $455 appellate filing fee pursuant to § 1915(b)(1), see McGore, 114 F.3d at 610-11, unless Plaintiff is barred from proceeding in forma pauperis, e.g., by the "three-strikes" rule of § 1915(g). If he is barred, he will be required to pay the $455 appellate filing fee in one lump sum.
